Satyr Names

Satyr names are musical, wine-soaked, and playful, drawn from Greek pastoral tradition. They favor names that roll off the tongue mid-song, with soft consonants and open vowels. Every name should sound good shouted at a party.

1. Pan — Greek Mythology
   God of the wild, shepherds, and panic. The original satyr — pipes, hooves, and chaos.
2. Dionysus — Greek Mythology
   God of wine and ecstasy. Technically not a satyr, but their patron and spirit animal.
3. Silenus — Greek Mythology
   The eldest satyr, tutor to Dionysus. Wise when sober, which was almost never.
4. Mr. Tumnus — The Chronicles of Narnia
   C.S. Lewis's faun who befriends Lucy. The gentler side of satyr nature.
5. Philoctetes — Hercules (Disney)
   Phil the satyr trainer of heroes. Danny DeVito energy in goat-legged form.
6. Grover — Percy Jackson
   A satyr protector searching for Pan. Rick Riordan's take brought satyrs to a new generation.
7. Bacchus — Roman Mythology
   The Roman Dionysus. His name became synonymous with revelry and excess.
8. Marsyas — Greek Mythology
   A satyr who challenged Apollo to a music contest and lost. Hubris has costs.
9. Faunus — Roman Mythology
   God of forests and fields. The Roman faun tradition is satyr by another name.
10. Puck — A Midsummer Night's Dream
    Shakespeare's trickster fairy — the mischief and magic that drives satyr characters.
